About Us

Wide Range of Commercial Products from the Best Brands

We Produce High Quality Spare Parts 100% OEM Compatible for Combines, Forage Harvesters and Tractors

Expertise, Reliability and Customer Service from over 35 Years

reliability and quality

Agri Parts, Italian company established in the 1980's produces and commercializes spare parts that are perfectly compatible with those made by the original manufacturing companies.

Agri Parts produces spare parts for agricultural machines, specifically combines, forage harvesters and tractors. Thanks to the rigorous selection of materials and to the continuous auditing of the productive chain in all its phases, we are able to produce components that are perfectly interchangeable with OEM parts, but at a more convenient price.

With a warehouse of over 10 000 products available in stock and a worldwide shipment network that is fast and reliable, Agri Parts is able to satisfy any client's request.

From almost 40 years, our expertise and quality guarantee is present in our products marked APB.

Our Products

Find the APB mark on our products for quality that you can trust.

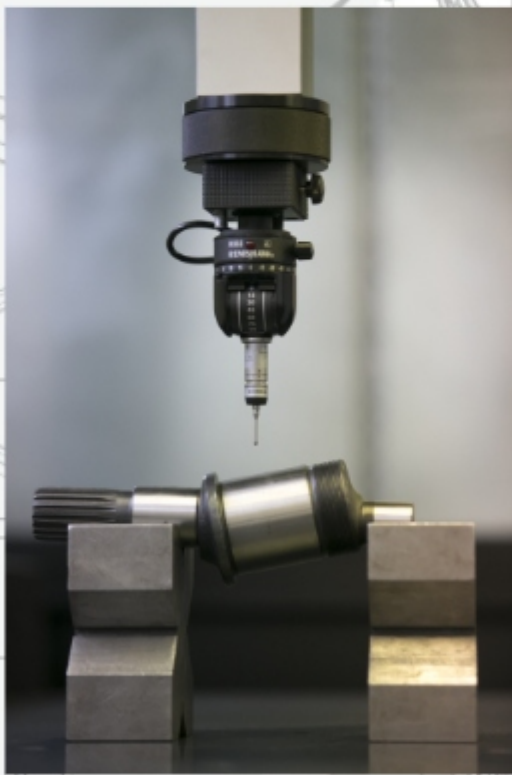

Our dedication and professionalism has allowed us to become a global exporter of spare parts and components for agricultural machines, continually expanding our sales network throughout Europe, and also in the United States and South America, as well as the North and South of Africa , the Middle East and in the Far East.

We have become a constant reference point for the growing number of companies that have come to rely on us over the years to minimize their downtime and to supply products that stand out for their quality and durability.

Our primary goal is customer satisfaction; that's why we never stop looking to improve, just like you. We understand the market in which we operate requires reliability and quality in every single production aspect: we have gone further when considering these essential characteristics, both in our products and in our staff. We continually focus on excellence, investing in development and research, in quality testing, and in every aspect of our company, especially with our committed and competent employees.
